MOON IN ECLIPSE FOR THREE HOURS

Luna Passes Through Earth's Shadow, Weather Giving Fine View.

COMET IS VISIBLE AGAIN

Shows Higher in Sky, but Becomes Fainter Than Before.

More at the attention which has been shown upon a stranger which only gives it light to the earth once in seventy-five years, the moon hid her face for several hours last night. Unfortunately she did not start her stunt until after the Halley comet had left the footlights, so the eclipse did not aid the public to get a better view of the hazy head and misty tail.

A good many more thousand people saw the comet again last night. It was the cynosure of all eyes, and said eyes waited for an hour after the comet set to see the moon go out of business. The comet was perhaps an hour higher by sky than the first showed itself in the west on Saturday night. It was, however, noticeably fainter, giving evidence of its gradual disappearance from the ken of earth mortals. The appearance otherwise was similar to that of Saturday.

At about 10:10 the moon entered the shadow of the earth. The eclipse became total at about ten minutes past midnight. This made the middle of the eclipse take place at 12:30. Promptly at 1 o'clock a line of light showed that the totally was at an end, and the moon entirely left the shadow at 2:20.

Weather conditions were perfect, so that the entire eclipse was plainly visible.

The moon passed through the shadow of the earth at a distance of approximately 240,000 miles away. At that distance the shade cast by our planet forms a disk about 5,700 miles in diameter. Through this shadow and its surrounding band of penumbra, or lighter shadow, the moon moved for a little less than three hours.

Lost Its Tail.
There is a disposition on the part of some astronomers to believe that Halley's comet really did lose its tail and is now engaged in getting a new one. In fact, it is stated that this is not a new stunt for a comet, for the same thing happened to Borelli's comet in 1903. That freakish wanderer, in fact, not only lost its appendage, but got lost itself, disappearing at the time it was due to strike the earth and destroy the race. In fact, many scientists believe that it did strike the earth and nobody knew it. They think that there is no more substance to a comet than to the rays from an electric light.

To go still further, Rev. Daniel J. McHugh, professor of astronomy in the De Pauw University, asserts that this selfsame comet lost its tail in 1825 when near the earth. It will in time, if this thing keeps up, come to regard the earth as a hard luck place, where unwary comets may lose their tails, putting them to the trouble and expense of getting new ornaments.

Battalion at Hollywood.
Orders were issued yesterday for the turnout of the First Battalion, First Regiment, to attend the memorial exercises at Hollywood on next Monday. Companies A, B and F are expected to furnish two color guards and two color sergeants. A bugler from the life and drum corps will sound the calls.

BOTH WRECKED ON DANGEROUS SHOAL

Schooner and Lighthouse Damaged by Crash, Tug Twohy Escaping.

GOVERNMENT WANTED PAY

Decision in Norfolk Basis for Appeal Heard in Higher Court Here.

Argument was yesterday heard in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the case of the Lambert's Point Towboat Company against the United States of America, and Moss & Moss, on appeal from the District Court at Norfolk. The litigation is the result of a collision by the tug John Twohy, Jr., and the schooner Malcolm Baxter, Jr., with Thimble Shoal Lighthouse, on December 27, 1909, when that beacon for mariners was practically demolished and the vessel wrecked. Decision was withheld by Judges Pritchard, Goff and District Judge Keller.

Thimble Shoal Lighthouse stands near the entrance to Hampton Roads for the purpose of warning ships of danger. The waters in the vicinity of Thimble Shoal Lighthouse are treacherous. Many a craft has been splintered upon the shoals and gone to the bottom in halting distance of the lighthouse.

On the afternoon of December 27 there was an unusual and uncertain tide in the vicinity of Thimble Shoals. The tug Twohy was towing the schooner Baxter. The tug cast off its line a short time before the schooner dashed against the lighthouse, overturning a red hot stove, which threatened to burn the interior of the lighthouse and endanger the life of the tender. The vessel struck with such force that the lighthouse was almost destroyed and the schooner was wrecked.

Filed Suit Against Two.
Although the schooner was not in actual tow of the tug when the incident occurred, in 1910, the United States of America filed a libel against the tug John Twohy, Jr., and the schooner Malcolm Baxter, Jr., claiming the collision was due to negligence of the tug and the schooner. The government set out in its complaint that the lighthouse was destroyed, and that the damage amounted to $50,000. It was admitted also that the schooner was damaged.

The tug was sold by order of the court for $10,000. Later, however, Moss & Moss, bankers, filed an offset bid of $11,000 for the vessel. This was accepted by the court. The Lambert's Point Tow Boat Company, owners of the tug, objected to the private sale. Judge Waddill, of the District Court, refused to annul the sale. The Lambert's Point Tow Boat Company then appealed to the Court of Appeals in the case of the schooner. The tug was sold for $10,000. The schooner was sold for $11,000. The tug was sold for $10,000. The schooner was sold for $11,000.

Toxaway Hearing To-Day.
To-day the case of the Toxaway Hotel Company, bankrupt, of North Carolina, against J. L. Smithers & Company, on appeal from the District Court at Asheville, N. C., will be argued in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Attorneys Davidson, Bourne and Parker, of Asheville, N. C., represent the appellants, while Attorneys J. C. Whitson, of Asheville, N. C., and W. W. Zachary, of Brevard, N. C., appear for the appellees.

Admitted to Practice.
Attorney E. E. Walcott, of Norfolk, was yesterday admitted to practice in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., of the United States District Court, has continued the trial of the Phil G. Kelly Company, Inc., for violation of the Internal Revenue laws, until the fall term. There are more than 100 indictments against the Kelly Company for having untaxed whisky on hand.

FARMERS ATTACK HIGH PRICE EVIL

Virginia Association Pledges Efforts to Eliminate Middleman.

CLAIM THEY CAN CONTROL

Have Six Thousand Members in This State—Executive Committee Meets.

Declaring for the elimination of the middleman, in order that the necessities of life may be furnished by the producers to the consumers at a very much lower price, the executive committee of the Virginia Division of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America began a three-days session at the Lexington Hotel last night. A declaration was also made for the restriction of immigration and for the draining of the swamp lands of the East, which, it is declared, can be done much more cheaply than irrigation of the lands in the West.

In frankly waging war on high prices, the committee members indicated that there will be something interesting before long. The Union is a secret organization, comprising 3,000,000 members, about 6,000 of whom reside in Virginia—"enough," said President D. M. Gannaway, "to significantly control the situation."

Objects of Order.
Among the avowed principles of the order, according to its constitution, are the following: "To discourage the credit and mortgage system, to educate the agricultural class in scientific farming, to teach farmers the classification of crops, domestic economy and the proceeds of marketing, to eliminate gambling in farm products by Boards of Trade, Cotton Exchanges and other speculative agencies, to secure and maintain profitable and uniform prices for grain, cotton, live stock and other products of the farm."

It is proposed by the Union to do away with the profits of the middleman, which its members say, cause high prices. They would get together on proper marketing of the farmers' products and make selling prices stable and uniform, so that the farmers will know what to expect and the consumer can have some idea as to what he will pay for his goods.

That they have tackled a big job they admit, but they believe they can turn the trick, having at last a sufficient number of members to ensure success.

Following the meeting of the executive committee, eighteen organizers of the union held a meeting. These men have in charge the promotion and organization of local unions.

Members of Body.
All the members of the executive committee are present. They are: D. M. Gannaway, president of the Virginia Division, Guinea Mills; H. L. Petty, State secretary and treasurer, Union Level; R. E. Blackwell, chairman of the executive committee, Holbrook; R. A. Fungus, Prospect; S. P. Spain, Church Road; J. W. Cawthorn, Appomattox; and C. S. Gordon, Baskerville. The committee will be in session to-day and to-morrow.

The following resolutions were presented and unanimously adopted:

1. That we favor more stringent immigration laws and such as will admit only desirable citizens.

2. We are opposed to class legislation in so far as it favors the interests of the majority of the people.

3. We are strongly in favor of such legislation as will enable the agricultural and laboring interests to prosper, believing that the prosperity of this country and nation, its permanency and progressiveness, depend more upon this than all else.

Reclaim Lands.
4. We favor such legislation as will enable us to reclaim our Eastern swamp lands, at less than one-third the cost of the Government, to irrigate the deserts of the West.

5. We favor bringing the producers and the consumers closer together and eliminating the middleman, in order that the necessities of a may be furnished by the producers to the consumers at a very much lower price.

6. We pledge ourselves to labor unceasingly for the welfare of the majority of the farmers, the consumers and the laborers.

7. We solicit the assistance of our representatives, both State and national, towards the accomplishment of these ends.

8. While opposed to partisan politics, we strongly advise the farmers, laborers and consumers generally to vote for only such men as shall pledge them their unwavering support.

9. We solicit the aid of all railway companies and their co-operation in delivering the products of the soil to the consumers at lowest possible rates.

10. We also solicit the aid and co-operation of the various banks and merchants, believing that they will realize the fact that the more prosperous the agricultural interests become the more their interests and the country generally will prosper.

TRIAL POSTPONED
Martin Jackson, held in New York, is awaited here.

L. L. Scherer, special agent of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, received a message last night saying that the preliminary hearing of Martin Jackson, arrested in New York as one of the baggage thieves who operated in Virginia three years ago, has been postponed to Thursday.

The papers are now in the hands of the Governor of New York, and it is believed by Mr. Scherer that there will be little difficulty in bringing Jackson here for trial.

In order that there may be no slip, convicted here and who was to have been liberated from the penitentiary at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon on conditional pardon, was not released. At the request of Mr. Scherer, Governor Mann decided to have Allen detained until the trial of Jackson is concluded.

Allen was arrested in New York by Charles Miller. Miller escaped from the Tombs and reached London, whence he was brought back by Detective Sergeant Wren and Bailey. With others of their gang, they are alleged to have stolen $200,000 worth of baggage from the railroad companies of the country.

SORRY HE FAILED TO KILL HIS MAN

Warm Weather Brings on Crime, and John Crump Attempts to Murder Dunning.

Like the sap which rises in the trees at the coming of spring, so does hot blood spring up in the hearts of the "bad men" among the negro race. And if statistics could be gathered, they would undoubtedly show it is firmly believed, that there is more crime at this season, continuing to early autumn, among the negroes than at any other period of the year.

One murder has been committed during the hot weather; there have been several cutting affairs, and last night John Crump, after beating William Dunning with his fists in the good, old-fashioned way, attempted to shoot him with a thirty-two calibre pistol. Dunning had just returned from securing a warrant for Crump's arrest for a misdemeanor when the latter saw him coming down Grace Street, between Seventh and Eighteenth Streets. He crept up behind, within about twenty feet, and fired. The bullet went wild, and Crump ran. But Bicycle Policeman Werner heard the shot and saw the negro run. He gave chase and soon cornered Crump.

Forced to Desist.
The latter, evidently still wild with rage, threw his hand back to his hip pocket, but Policeman Werner's revolver was pressing uncomfortably close to his body and he desisted.

In the station he said he missed his mark, and appeared sorry that he had failed in his attempt at murder. He declared he did not care what became of him.

He was locked up on three warrants, one a misdemeanor, the second a misdemeanor, and the third attempted murder. The last charge, of course, carries a penitentiary sentence upon conviction.

William Langley was also evidently out on the warpath, for he was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. He was taken to the station and shortly afterwards brought in on a charge of fighting and breaking a man's arm.

Seventeenth Street, the habitat of the worst class of negroes, is being closely watched by the police, for it is there that a large portion of crime among the bad negroes is perpetrated. Bunk Stokes has gone for the time being, and Charlie White is believed not to be selling any more cocaine. But cokes are still being sold sporadically, and wherever there is coke there is a trail of crime.

SERGEANT GETS MEDAL

Has Attended All Drills for Year—Company Needs Many Cots.

Sergeant Sexton, of Company F, First Infantry, will after to-night proudly wear an attendance medal. This will be presented to him by his company in consideration of his having attended every drill and parade of the past twelve months.

A medal is given to each man who completes such a year of service. Company F is in good shape from a membership standpoint. It has just entered an order for sixty-five cots, to be used at Gettysburg, and it is expected that every one of these cots, with perhaps two or three exceptions, will be used at the big camp by members of the company. An extension table has also been purchased, so that the company will have facilities for eating without having to take their meals on the ground of the battlefield.

PROLIFIC KIDS NEED MORE ROOM

Give Us School Annex, Says Satterfield, and We'll Be as Proud as Two Peacocks.

A delegation of citizens from the East End appeared before the Council Committee on Finance last night, urging an appropriation of $30,000 for building an annex to the Chimborazo public school building. It was contended by the East Enders that the present school building is inadequate to accommodate the large number of children who desire to attend in that section.

According to John L. Satterfield, City Sergeant, there is a "growing need" of a larger building to properly provide for the education of children in that ward. "The spending of $30,000 for a school building in Chimborazo will be worth more than a dozen State Fair buildings, for which $15,000 has been appropriated," declared Mr. Satterfield.

It was pointed out by Mr. Satterfield that children were forced to attend private schools and that schools in other parts of the city, because of the inadequate provisions. He said that he spoke from practical experience, having six or seven children, some of whom attended one school and some another. "I am a living example of what we have to contend with," he added. "Children are very prolific out our way, and we need a place to send them to school without breaking up our family of children by sending some to one place and some to another."

Continuing, Mr. Satterfield said that when he was a member of the committee and a big school building was provided for Fairmount, those people were as proud as a peacock. "Now, give us a handsome school building and we will be as proud as two peacocks," he said.

S. C. Sturges, principal of the Chimborazo School, told the committee of the difficulty experienced by the residents in finding suitable accommodations for their children. He explained that every resident, every taxpayer, every teacher and everybody who has investigated the matter, favor a new building. "The only question now is whether or not this committee has the money with which to build the annex," he said.

He said that the money was not there, but he hoped you would spend it, whether it costs $50,000, or whatever it will require," said Mr. Sturges.

Other residents from the East End appeared to the Finance Committee to provide for the needs of the ward, which has thirty or forty in the delegation. The committee took the matter under advisement.

SLACK-WIRE GIRL FALLS ON STAGE

Mrs. Levolo Meets With Painful Accident During Performance at Colonial.

While an admiring audience gazed and waited for the thrilling act, Mrs. R. P. Levolo, an acrobat, and wife of an acrobat, fell from a slack wire in the Colonial Vaudeville Theatre last night, and seriously sprained her ankle.

"Drop the curtain. Drop the curtain," she cried. "Oh, my foot!" The curtain was lowered, and the half-fainting actress was carried from the stage by her husband. Another act was put on, and the audience went on without Mrs. Levolo for the rest of the night.

Mr. Levolo was on the wire, holding his wife to his shoulders when she fell as the wire sagged away. Her husband and her own weight crashed down on her foot, and it bent beneath their combined weights.

She was much hurt, and sobbed hysterically when Dr. R. L. Collins, of the city ambulance corps, examined her ankle. The physician treated it temporarily, and she was taken to her room. It will probably be several weeks before she can attempt slack wire walking again.

CHANGE FOOD

And Lose that Uneasy Feeling.

A man who has always been a "skinny chap," although hardly ever ill, tells of the way he put on flesh and reduced his irritability and nervous condition.

By chance he had a taste of Grape-Nuts food at the table of a friend and enjoyed the flavor so much that he began to have it every meal. He says:

"In a short time I found myself another person, the old feeling of discontent and uneasiness left me entirely, it became a pleasure to go about my work, whereas, before, for years, I had always had the feeling of being a little weary, now I seem to have a surplus of energy for everything. My weight has increased eleven pounds in four weeks, and I am still gaining."

"I have never been very sick, and am satisfied that if my present improvement in health continues, I shall not be."

"The change that this food has made in my life has been remarkable and so satisfactory that I am glad of the opportunity to tell you."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville, in pkgs." "There's a Reason." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

IDENTIFY DEAN AS LEWIS'S SLAYER

But Man Under Arrest Declares He Was at Home at Time of Sunday Murder.

William Dean, a tall, ginger-colored negro, was arrested by Police Officer Chatterton yesterday afternoon on the charge of having murdered George Lewis, who was shot to death in the house at 144 East Franklin Street early Sunday morning.

Dean was found on Main Street. He refused to say anything when first taken to the station and examined, but afterwards he stated that he was in bed at home below Fulton at the time of the shooting. He has engaged the services of a lawyer to defend him when his case is called in Police Court this morning.

Dean has been identified by R. H. Kelley, proprietor of the boarding house in which Lewis was killed, and by the other occupants at the time as the slayer of Lewis. Another negro had previously been brought before them, but they said he was not the man. When confronted with Dean they threw up their hands and immediately declared him to be the murderer. But all of them are being held in jail as Commonwealth witnesses pending the arraignment.

Falls from Street Car.
Miss Annie Thomas, of 51 North Monroe Street, fell from a street car at Monroe and Clay Streets yesterday morning as she was in the act of alighting. She was rendered unconscious, and was taken to 40 West Clay Street, where she was revived by Dr. R. L. Collins, of the city ambulance corps.

DELAYS HEARING TO FAVOR POLLOCK

Street Committee Defers Consideration of Street Railway Franchise.

No action was taken by the Council Committee on Streets last night on the franchise asked for by the Virginia Railway and Power Company, owing to the desire of Councilman Pollock to be present when the matter is considered. It was stated by Chairman Adams that Mr. Pollock had to appear before the investigating committee and could not be present.
